

ICPC Southern California Regional Contest

Bulletin #1
January 25, 2021

Welcome!

Welcome to the 2020 – 2021 Southern California Regional programming contest.

There are some important changes to the rules to accommodate pandemic restrictions.

- 1. The contest will be virtual.
2. Eligibility will be determined as of Fall 2020.
3. Each team member will be able to compete using a personal computer at "home," wherever home is currently.

Full rules at:
http://socalcontest.org/current/onlinrules.shtml
#OnlineRules.

Fees

There is no fee to register a team this year. We do ask that every registered team compete.

T-Shirts

Each team member (contestant, coach, co-coach, etc.) who would like to have a t-shirt may order one. Orders received by February 7 should arrive in time for the contest. You may buy a t-shirt any time up until the contest date. Purchasing a t-shirt is optional.

Order your t-shirt here:

Registration

Register, as usual, at icpc.global.

This year, we expect to be able to support more teams in the virtual contest venue than can be accommodated at our in-person contest. The Coach(es) from a given Institution will determine how many teams may compete from there.

Profile / Team Approvals

Your team will be approved only after every team member has a completed profile. This year, the profile includes some "Extra Fields." Please be sure to click this tab to complete your registration.

Warm-Up

During an in-person contest, there is a warm-up contest in the morning. This serves two purposes: to ensure contestants are familiar with the environment and have an opportunity to ask questions, and to test the environment.

This year, warm-ups will be on a different day from the contest. There will be several days/times set up and contestants will need to sign-up to participate in a warm-up. Details will be provided to approved teams.

Practice Contests

Practice contests are available! You do not have to practice as a team. Get details here:
