

to the 2023-24 Southern California Region International Collegiate Programming Contest Hosted by Riverside City College

ONLINE WARM-UP OCTOBER 14

The Warm-up / Rehearsal Contest will be online, on October 14. The purposes of the warm-up are two-fold: one, to stress-test the environment (and uncover any issues so they can be fixed before the contest); and, two, to make sure the contestants are familiar with the environment, so they can concentrate their efforts on the problem set during the contest.

We realize that some teams may not be registered in time for the Warm-up. Anyone the coach identifies as a potential team member should participate in the Warm-up. Coaches may assign people to temporary teams for this purpose; it is not necessary to register them in the ICPC system.

Coaches should request logins for the number of teams that will be participating in the Warm-up, whether they are registered or not. Email the total number needed to registrar@socalcontest.org (one login per team).

In addition, SoCal will run the rehearsal as an unattended contest through October 26. We strongly recommend that all teams participate.

CONTESTANTS: Review and UPDATE your profiles*.

Please review all your data on all tabs and make sure it is current. Please pay special attention to these items:

- 1. On the MAIN tab, make sure you have selected your Institution. You may type enough letters to find your institution, and you will need to select it from the list that appears.

- 2. Review and update your DEGREE INFO.

- 3. Make sure your CONTACT information is up-to-date, including your EMERGENCY CONTACT.

*Profiles must be completed in order for the ICPC system to be able to clear your eligibility. Teams are approved after any and all eligibility issues are resolved.
